

When in doubt, twirl. Draw from nature by dreaming in her presence. Lick the Bowl

Work should be more fun than fun Proper use of the eyes requires a long, long apprenticeship

All that there is
Is what you tell yourself
About all that there is Imagination is the place where we keep ideas that cannot be and yet we somehow believe are or can be True perfection lives in the rest well-taken between each action

The best way to predict the future
is to create it
If you ask me what I came to do in this world,
I, an artist, will answer you: 'I am here to live out loud.'

I know that man.
He's either on TV or
I've been on a date with him.
Our head is round
so that our thinking can change directions It's hard for an empty bag to stand upright.

Pollinate Possibility LAY BAIT FOR INSPIRATION
If you want breakfast in bed, sleep on the table.

Detail is truth. Optional Memory You can never have too many nicknames

I'm a Habitual Rearranger
Always eat French fries at the end of a walk...

Eat an apple once a year in the fall.
Make pies the rest of the time...
Never name a pet after a relative...
Write your name neatly on letters to former teachers...
Sit up straight except in movie theaters...

Pile magazines by the bed even if you have a coffee table...
Shut the closet door
even if it's neat inside...

Never leave chocolate syrup in unmarked jars...

Never rinse your hair in a sink where a dog has had a recent bath...
Lay bait for inspiration.

Never wear a hat to a party unless men over 60 will be present...

Turn a bad hair day around by wearing a good blouse...

The best way to predict the future
is to create it

You can never have too many nicknames

YOU CAN NEVER HAVE TOO MANY NICKNAMES I'M A HABITUAL REARRANGER

Rain is the same thing as a shower without soap...

Run in circles when you're not getting anywhere anyway...

Play catch with the dog on days that have names ending in a "Y"...

Age is something that doesn't matter,
unless you are a cheese.

LIFE RULES

Always leave a piece of cake for later, which can be as soon as 3.2 minutes from now...

Sit in the balcony at a theater named Bijou or Roxy...

Never write a play that doesn't have a starring role for you and your two best friends...

Throw the fragrance samples away before bringing magazines into the house...

Check for holes in your socks before breakfast except on holidays...
